

Supportive & Palliative Care Research Showcase

Come to the FREE workshop to:

- Find out about local supportive and palliative care research
- Network with others interested in research and palliative care
- Find out more about research whether novice or expert

This day is aimed at everyone from clinicians who need to be involved in research but don't know where to start, to expert researchers who need to network with delegates from different disciplines. There will be a mix of presentations and research cafes to discuss emerging ideas for research and how delegates can get involved in research.

Presentations include:

Research in Supportive and Palliative Care: Priorities, Challenges and Methods

Prof Chris Todd (Professor of Community Health)

Nurse led research-why is it a challenge?

Helen Barlow (Network lead nurse)

Gaining patient and public engagement

Prof Ann Caress (Professor of Nursing)

Plus presentations about local supportive and palliative care research including spirituality in palliative care, complementary therapy in hospice day care, models of community care and experience of care in outpatient clinics
